Wilson to Hang Onto Peace Treaty

U. S. ENVOYS WANT PACT SIGNED FIRST

ADMINISTRATION OFFICIALS BELIEVE PRESIDENT WILL NOT SHOW TERMS.

INVESTIGATION IS PREPARED

Inquiry May Take Wide Scope, In Delving Into Leak.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, June 7.—The American delegation to the peace conference apparently is firm in its decision not to authorize the publication of the German peace treaty until it is signed and not even to communicate the official text in its present form to the United States senate.

Expect Negative Reply.
Washington, June 7.—Administration officials believe President Wilson's reply to the senate resolution asking for the peace treaty with Germany will be that it is not compatible with the public interest to furnish the text at this time. This belief was strengthened by dispatches today from Paris saying the American peace delegation apparently is firm in its decision not to authorize publication of the treaty until it is signed.

STEINER APPOINTED SECRETARY OF LOCAL "Y"; COMING IN JULY

J. A. Steiner, Beloit, will succeed C. R. Bearmore as secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., according to an announcement made today by J. T. Hooper, member of the board of directors. Mr. Steiner has just resigned a similar position with the Beloit association to accept the local task.

SUFFRAGE PATH IN STATE LEGISLATURE LOOKS PROMISING

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, June 7.—There is now every indication that the Wisconsin legislature will pass the federal suffrage amendment before the present legislative adjourns. Information has been received here that a copy of the resolution will be received in Madison within the next few weeks, and it will be immediately forwarded to the legislature. There are indications that the legislature will not adjourn until July.

There will be practically no opposition to the passage of the federal suffrage amendment in the legislature. This is borne out by the fact that the legislature has passed by overwhelming votes two bills at this session relating to suffrage.

Says Poe Can't Pay

London, June 7.—Germany's inability to meet the financial demands of the peace terms and the inability of the allies to make her pay are insisted upon by Dr. Bernard Dernburg, the German minister of finance, in an interview telegraphed by the Daily Mail's Berlin correspondent. Dr. Dernburg reiterated his recent declaration that Germany will not sign the terms as presented and continues:

"As a matter of fact neither the German nor Germany is capable of signing this peace. Germany is incapable of signing this peace. Germany cannot pay and the entire cannot make Germany pay. You can invade Germany and occupy the Ruhr basin and nobody will stand in your way if you wish to come to Berlin. But when you are there what are you going to do?"

Only Hope is in Production

"Your only hope of reparation lies in getting the German people to work producing goods which they can give the allies against money indemnity, but first they must have food and then raw materials. You must make terms which will enable you to get your reparations reasonably soon. You do not suppose that our children are going to remain slaves because their parents are poor?"

The Gazette Stands Ready to Support all Endeavor to Make Janesville and Vicinity a Bigger and Better Community.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

The rapid progress which is being made in the development of Janesville has inspired Mrs. Louise Ford to write of the old Janesville. She points out some of the figures who were instrumental in building up the city in the following article:

A reminiscent mood has taken possession of me and there passes in review many who were familiar figures and most active in the building of a "bigger and better Janesville." Seventy years watching the growth of a "home town" makes those who gave of their best energies in the building very dear to the heart and "lest we forget" it is pleasant and loyal to think of them often.

In the early days each one was marked by an individuality of manner or dress that made them distinctive and easily recognized. If nature had been generous of favors and given them curls, curls remained to the end, often growing into ringlets. No barber would have dared to shave the back of the head, making all heads look alike, cut after the same pattern.

A judge and a landlord who was proprietor on Main street, wore the ringlets and were admired. If one possessed a cloak and found it convenient to wear it, they dared Dame Fashion, who had just decreed big, gray shawls were the latest and wore it regardless.

Good old independent times were they, not being troubled with many changes. The Indians were frequent visitors and one Indian chief was the subject most frequently talked of until we children felt that he was well known, and the history he helped make was ours too, as we were living on the old trail and he camped often on the big rock at Monterey. He must have had the eye of an artist to select such camp with its wide spreading view of nature's beautiful scenery.

Right here let me ask why we have neglected our opportunity to erect a colossal statue of this historical chief who belongs to us as well as he does to other towns on Rock river? At Oregon, Ill.; Lorado Taft, the sculptor, has left his mark in a statue of this noted Indian. During Frances Willard's youth she passed this picturesque spot in her many journeys to and from Forest Home. Her great love for her home gave interest to all that pertained to its surroundings. Its natural beauty, history and residents were always given a glowing tribute. This Indian was especially admired and in our talks she expressed a wish that he might always be remembered by Janesville. It was one of her dreams that a statue should at some time be placed on the big rock, facing southwest as it could be plainly seen by all passengers on the incoming trains from the south. No city has a more beautiful entrance from either way than has our home town. The southern train is first shut in the cut and ere one ceases to wonder what has happened it is on the bridge high over the most charming of rivers. It has a startling beauty as the scenery flashes on the sight.

It has been said that the first view makes or mars the impression given a stranger of a town. Surely nature did not give all of its wonders to the Hudson river; but showered generously many on our dear old Rock. It is up to the Art League to add something to its picturesque beauty at the same time commemorating the coming of the first white man who made a home one winter on the big rock.

"It's celebrated Janesville is,
For the statue at Monterey,
But she's got more glory coming
And it's coming every day."

It was first thought that the town would be located in Monterey but soon a cabin was built where now stands the Myers hotel. The man managed a ferry to cross the river, where the Milwaukee street bridge is now located. His name was short but by making a generous addition it found its way on the map and has even found its way to Australia by its enterprising way of doing things.

A great need was met by a man of historical name, who founded our newspaper. It came to stay and gladden the homes for many and many a year. My own home has never missed a copy for seventy years, unless it was closed, and often it followed even to California. May its shadow never grow less.

Twin brothers from the Emerald Isle laid the foundation of our mercantile life; for years they conducted the largest store in southern Wisconsin, known to all surrounding towns. They were popular, making every one welcome with a genial smile and a handshake; one never felt sure which they were talking to, but it did not matter as the good cheer was there, but it did matter for the meeting. It is a pleasure to remember that they were not retained for all

COMMON CARE.
Rain and shine and joy and woe
Everybody here must know;
No one ever went through life
And escaped the touch of strife;
No one ever lived and died
But has had his courage tried
And has suffered grief and pain
Care's as common as the rain.

Yesterday I shed some tears,
And the joy of all the years
Seemed to me was fading fast
But today the storm has passed.
I am smiling once again,
Peace has driven away the pain,
From the heavy clouds of doubt
I have seen my sun come out.

In the hospital today
One there was whose face was gray,
Gray with anxious care, and he
Pitifully looked at me
As he paced the corridor
With his eyes upon the floor.
What he suffered I knew,
I had walked and waited, too.

I had lived those hours of care,
Paced, as he was pacing there,
But day or two before
I had walked that corridor.
And it struck me as a blow
What a common thing is woe!
Day to day some hearts are torn
By the cares that must be borne.

Now I smile and he is sad,
Now he grieves and I am glad.
And tomorrow there shall be
Some one else where now is he.
Rain and shine and joy and woe,
Everybody here must know,
Each in turn ere life is o'er,
Paces doubt's grim corridor.

WHO'S WHO in the Daily News

D. E. Williams, adviser to the peace conference on far eastern affairs, is returning home to resume his post in the University of California.

The state department announces that he returned because "he was merely 'loaned' by the university to the conference, and not because he was dissatisfied with the treaty."

Dr. Williams is an Ohio man, having been born in Columbus 44 years ago.

He became a missionary to China in 1887, and was interpreter at the American consulate in Shanghai from 1898 to 1903, when he was given the post of translator for the Chinese government.

After this he held many important diplomatic positions in China, and finally became chief of the division of far eastern affairs in the state department.

He is the author of many volumes on the subject of Chinese economics, politics and religion.

Appleton Builds Houses.

Appleton, June 6.—Work commenced Monday on seven new houses which are part of Appleton's building campaign. In addition to these ground will be broken shortly for a new apartment house.

AMUSEMENTS

MILTON SCHUSTER COMPANY

SCORING HIT AT APOLLO

That funny little Jew, Milt Schuster and his comedy company, who are playing a return engagement at the Apollo this week end, are drawing the crowds as they did during their previous runs here.

The bill has been completely changed and there is a change in program for today and Sunday, featuring the tabloid musical comedy, "My Morocco Babe."

Soldiers Not to Parade.

La Crosse, June 7.—Wishes of La Crosse's returned soldiers prevailed so far as the Fourth of July celebration is concerned. There will be no fireworks and the khaki-clad soldiers will not parade in uniform; they voted against it. An all day outing in one of the city's largest parks, free food, music and a dance in the evening out of doors will comprise the program of the day. There will be no speeches—just a good time for all.

Burned In Acid.

Marinette, June 7.—John Beraghen, whose home was at Nadeau, Menominee county, Mich., was fatally burned in an acid tank at the Kimberly-Clark mills, Niagara, Wednesday. He was climbing near one of the large acid tanks when his clothes became caught in a revolving pulley and he was thrown into the tank. Fellow workmen managed to get him out of the tank but he died a few hours after reaching the hospital.

Rhinelanders to Go Dry.

Rhinelanders, July 7.—It is probable that Rhinelanders will go dry for the first time in its history July 1. Not a single application for license has been filed at present and only about a week remains until the time limit for local licenses runs out. Apparently local saloon men do not believe the present war time prohibition act will be amended. Unless their applications are filed by the 15th, they will be forced to close July 1, even should action permitting liquors be passed by congress.

"Tiger" Pickered Captured.

Rhinelanders, June 7.—A "tiger" pickered weighing 14 pounds was caught near this city by Irving Cole. The big fish, while not the largest caught in this section, is considered a "big fish" and is a fine specimen.

DICE OF DESTINY

There was a sudden silence in the room, voices dropped to whispers. De la Guerra knocked again.

"It was Torre's voice, sharp, impatient. 'Who is it?' 'It is I, Senor Torre,' answered the old man, quietly. 'And I am Antonio de la Guerra. I bring my apologies for being so tardy to wait upon a guest—and I come to talk with you.'

Again silence, again hurried whispers, then Torre, crying out:

"What have you to say? I can put a bullet through the door which will find you. If you will open the safe, let us take the gold and go; you may keep the silver and star. What do you say?"

De la Guerra laughed softly. And then, seriously, he answered:

"I say, my dear Senor Torre, you are talking bravely; but that you at last are in no position to dictate. It is I who dictate. Let me come in that we may talk, or I shall have to have Vidal chop down some more of my doors. And I do not like to do that."

Torre hesitated. Why? Stanway thought because he was studying his men with those keen eyes of his, trying to guess how far he could count on them now.

Evidently not very far. For in a moment came his soft laugh, and his short command:

"Nunez, open the door. Let my kinsman come just to the threshold. If any of his men try to enter—well, leave them to me! Enter, senor!"

The door slid open. De la Guerra stepped just to the threshold, Stanway close behind him.

"Good evening, caballeros," said the old Spaniard courteously. "Now for my word with Torre. All of the men he has brought with him may go free and unharmed, provided that I am assured Pedro Celestino, and poor Alfredo there will live. If any of them is to die, then the man who has killed him is not to go! Juarez may go. Deception may go."

"You are pleased to be gracious, my high and mighty kinsman!" sneered Torre impudently. "O-ho, Senor Stanway! You are there, too? Castro, sharply to a black-browed ruffian at his side, 'you are the best marksman I ever saw, and, besides, you are an admirable soldier who knows how to take a command. If the Senor Stanway moves a hand or takes a step this way, will you blow his brains out for me?'"

Castro's answer was to fling down his revolver so that it rattled noisily on the floor.

"You have led us into a trap," he retorted sullenly. "I accept the Senor de la Guerra's word that I may go free. I have harmed no one!"

A black frown gathered Torre's brows. A little smile crept into De la Guerra's stern eyes.

"The first sign that you lose, Torre," he said quietly. "The first sign that I win!"

"Do you know, my kinsman," replied Torre insolently, shrugging his shoulders at the mutiny of Castro. "that I may lose and still you not win? How? Why, to be explicit to an old man, I can at least have the exquisite pleasure of ending my gay little existence gayly—and in shooting you just between the eyes, senor!"

Stanway shuddered, seeing the deadly earnest threat in Torre's lowered eyes. But De la Guerra's gaze did not waver and he answered:

"Even that, Torre, is denied to you." He laughed softly. "For, above all things, you are a gambler and will take a gambler's chance! You can kill me, yes—perhaps! And if you did? My vaqueros would rush in here and on time for me to see you die! You know that. There would be no chance in it for you. I offer you a chance—if you let these men go, if you throw down your gun and agree to take the chance I offer you! And being a gambler above anything else in the world—why, you will accept the one little chance I offer you."

Torre hesitated. His hesitation was plain in his attitude, the head dropped a little, the moody gathering of the brows. He looked swiftly to the men about him, to Juarez first, to them all. Juarez shook his head slowly, his lips compressed, his eyes on the floor.

"There is no longer anything for me to fight for," he said slowly. "Nothing but death! I can find that any day upon the other side of the border, senor. I think—that you are alone."

"Cowards! Cowards all!" jeered Torre. "Then he turned again to De la Guerra. 'What chance do you offer me, senor?'"

"We shall speak of that when the others are gone, when you accept it," returned De la Guerra sternly. "I simply give you my word that I shall give you what the Americans here call an 'even break.' You haven't that now."

"Your word, senor."

"My word," gravely. "Buena," cried Torre gayly. That is all that I ask. Adios, my little cowards," he smiled at Juarez and the rest. "Congratulations upon the game, my kinsman," bowing to De la Guerra. And he tossed his revolver to the table.

CHAPTER XIII.

A Game of Dice.

"Now, Senor Torre, you shall have a gambler's choice!"

The tall candles burned steadily in the massive candlesticks, the little yellow flames shining reflected in the polished woodwork of the walls. Senor de la Guerra sat in his favorite armchair at the great mahogany table, his white, aristocratic hand tapping idly upon its glistening top. Stanway, standing at his side, watched curiously both De la Guerra and the smiling Torre.

"I am waiting, senor," returned Torre gravely.

"I have assumed myself," went on De la Guerra in the same even tone, "that Pedro and Celestino and the vaquero who was shot here in this room will live. I have let all of your men go; excepting Captain Juarez, Senor Stanway," turning a little in his chair, "will you be so kind as to tell the captain that I should be pleased to see him?"

Stanway left the room promptly, returning almost immediately with the rebel captain at his heels. De la Guerra rose, bowed courteously.

"Senor captain," he said, "I am going to wish you a pleasant ride across the border."

He snapped open a drawer of the table, drew out a packet and tossed it upon the table top.

"Will you examine it, senor?"

Juarez, frowning, a little suspicious, held back for a moment. Then, under the amused eyes of Torre he stepped forward, took up the packet, opened it, stared incredulously, and fell back with a little gasp.

De la Guerra smiled. "American banknotes," he said easily. "You will find that they amount to five thousand dollars. For your needy countrymen, senor. You see, I have never refused—pardon me, senor—alms to a beggar! Senor Stanway, will you be kind enough to show the captain to the door?"

"Now, Senor Torre," resumed the old man when Stanway had returned, "I am to give you your gambler's chance. I have learned that a month ago you killed a man in San Antonio. Now, days on the brink, 'are they looking forward a little, 'are they looking for you along the border? Have you a good chance of getting across without being shot?"

Torre's cheeks grew a little pale. He returned De la Guerra's gaze, however, and answered steadily:

"I should have, perhaps, one chance in ten thousand!"

"Good! I thought so!"

The old Spaniard slipped his hand again into the table drawer and the thing he brought out this time he handed to Torre.

"Here is your chance, senor," he said sternly.

"It was a dicebox!"

"What do you mean?" snapped Torre.

"I mean this: You shall shake the dice you love so well, and the stake that I win!"

"Do you know, my kinsman," replied Torre insolently, shrugging his shoulders at the mutiny of Castro. "that I may lose and still you not win? How? Why, to be explicit to an old man, I can at least have the exquisite pleasure of ending my gay little existence gayly—and in shooting you just between the eyes, senor!"

Dinner Stories

"A police court isn't all grim and sordid," remarked Judge White the other day. "Sometimes something really funny happens. Not so very long ago a chauffeur was brought in after having run down a man. 'Didn't you know that if you struck this pedestrian he would be seriously injured?' I asked. 'Yes, sir,' replied the chauffeur. 'Then why didn't you zigzag your car and miss him?' 'He was zigzagging himself and outgassed me, your honor,' was the answer."

"The old sea captain, in brass buttons, sat smoking comfortably by his fireside, when Jack, his sailor son, burst in upon him. 'Weather too rough, explained the son, 'so we've put in for a day.' 'Too rough?' exclaimed Mr. Tar with visions of his own days on the briny. 'Why, sir, I was once sailing round the Cape when a storm came on and it blew down the mainmast and the mizenmast was swept away, but we didn't even think of putting in!' 'Well, you see,' explained the son, 'this storm was so bad it blew the anchors off the cap-tain's buttocks, took the paint off the ship's bows and—' 'Stop!' cried the old man. 'you do me credit, Jack—you do me credit!'"

Reggie had laid his very small portion of the world at Marianna's very small feet, and Marianna had gently but firmly said "No." "Then you won't marry me?" said Reggie feeling very bad about it. "No, a thousand times no!" said Marianna, with decision. "You needn't say 'no' a thousand times!" said the rejected suitor, resentfully. "I've only asked you once!"

"Swat the Fly" and Health Week Interest School Children

(By MRS. ABBIE HELMS.)
"Oh, every fly that skips
Will have five million sons and daughters.
And countless first and second cousins
Of aunts and uncles, scores and dozens,
And fifty-seven billion nieces.
So knock the blame thing all to pieces."

This rhyme by Walt Mason might have been chosen for the slogan for health work in the schools during the week so energetic has been the propaganda along these lines. That the fly is a wicked villain and must be exterminated wherever found is one thing; impressing on the children's mind by the recent health campaign. The idea that a dirty garbage can is a crime has also been drilled into their mentality by the same means. That the world does more is shown by the fact that education along health lines is possible in school work, where a few years ago such subjects were ignored and considered outside the province of educational institutions. Now it is a recognized fact that to have a normal mentality, the child must have a healthy body. And the schools of the country have been working toward that end.

City Well Organized.
Splendid co-operation by the local organizations during the recent health campaign had divided the work up in such an effective way, that while the ground was well covered by the different speakers, yet there was little repetition. For instance the care of the teeth was emphasized by the talks given by local dentists which were suited to the different ages of the pupils. A tooth brush drill where the pupils brought their own brushes and participated in the exercises was a particularly joyous event. The kindergarten children thought it was a new kind of game and thoroughly enjoyed it. One dentist likened the germs finding lodgment in the teeth as a camping party which must be routed out, and left behind no business there, and left bad effects behind.

A really fascinating primer showing the teeth of different animals and giving little hints on the care of teeth, was distributed to all the primary teachers of the city, and was made the basis of language lessons and all kinds of exercises. It made a hit with the little tots and incidentally helped to drive home many useful lessons in regard to care of the teeth.

Reading Lessons provided. Interesting reading lessons for older pupils in the grades was culled from various sources and after it was read in class, the material was taken home by the children and presumably read by the parent.

Interesting booklets put out by the extension department of the International Harvester company were devoted to fly campaign facts and were simple, concise, and well written and illustrated.

Excellent reading material was found in old numbers of the anti-tuberculosis magazine. The Crusader, published in quantity from the bureau of publicity in Milwaukee. The children's story number was especially fine, and also contained several rousing songs adapted to popular melodies by Mrs. Louise Brand, who formerly lived in Janesville.

The health week placard supplied by the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary club to each pupil in the schools embodied a set of simple rules and suggestions along sanitary and health lines which were admirable in themselves and could not help but have an influence on home conditions.

The card containing the rules of the Health Chore was given to each child and each was asked to keep his own tally. Such simple things as brushing the teeth regularly, cleaning the finger nails, and sleeping 10 hours a night with the windows open, were brought forcefully to the minds of these cards, and emphasized the home training which mothers had been trying to give.

A special health crusade bulletin had been gotten out by the National Temperance association which showed how the movement of the good health crusade was nation-wide in its scope.

Many Give Talks.
The talks given by physicians, nurses and mothers in the schools, while they all followed the lines of health suggestions, yet they took in so many different angles of the topic that they were not at all wearisome. And they all seemed to enjoy the exercise, and have the faculty of talking in a manner the children could understand.

One woman emphasized the idea of personal cleanliness as an aid to mothers in the care of the home. For instance in wiping the feet on coming into the house, that she might not have to sweep so often, and washing the hands before coming to the table that the table cloth might not be soiled by careless hands. Another showed how the different pests like chickens and rabbits got sick if they did not have clean quarters and plenty of fresh air and water.

In many cases parents of the children came to the building to hear the informal talks and professed themselves much pleased with the interest aroused by the campaign among the pupils.

The whole movement was distinctly encouraging and a real beginning to a higher standard of community interest in health as shown by the establishment of a general dispensary for treatment of diseases.

Rainbow Omen Stays With Yanks Through War

(By INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
Kansas City, Mo., June 7.—The famous Rainbow division unit from Kansas City, the One Hundred and Seventeenth field signal battalion, was loved by its men and women all the way through the organization of the unit, through the trip overseas, in many battles, back to America again, and even "home" after being discharged from the army. Both officers and men tell of seeing the rainbow before many victorious attacks. It appeared the day they landed in France and the day they landed in America. And it also appeared the day the boys came home to Kansas City from Camp Funston, where they had been discharged from the service.

Boy Spills the Beans About Sis's New Feller

(By INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
Smith Center, Kan., June 7.—The Methodist Sunday school here was shocked and amused when Willie Harris, a member of a little boys' class, betrayed some secrets about his sister. "My sister has a new diamond ring," piped little Willie out in class. "Cush," warned his teacher, who scented the giving away of a secret, as she blushing pointed her finger at him.

"Well, she has," Willie reaffirmed, "and says it's a good one because her beau had to sell his best mule to pay for it."

Anxious About the "Gov.," His Daddy, Not Official

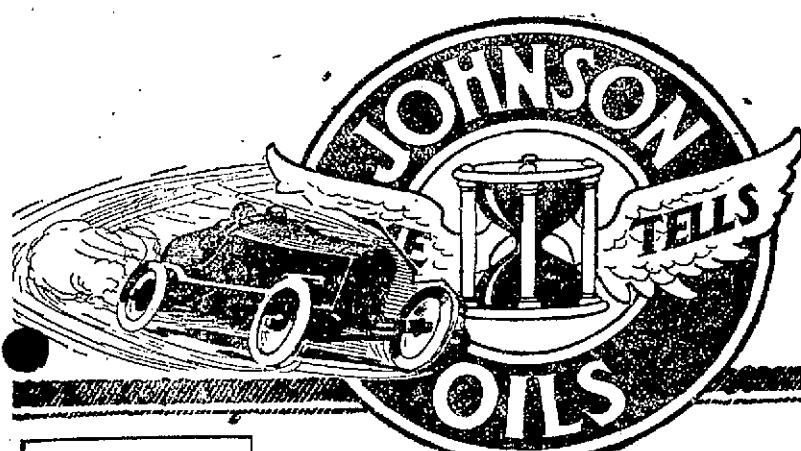

(By INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
Topeka, Kan., June 7.—"Colonel" Harvey Parsons, of this city, who was one of Governor Henry J. Allen's staff sent to New York to welcome home the thirty-fifth division, the Kansas and Missouri national guard boys, relates the following story of his experiences in New York.

"The committee went down the bay on a tug to meet the One Hundred and Thirtieth artillery. One of the boys shouted from the ship 'Is the Governor with you?'"

"We asked him if he meant Governor Allen, or Senator Capper, who was governor when the division went across."

"I don't mean either," yelled the boy. "It's my father I want."

All Seared to Death.
Rhineclander, June 7.—Bang! and a half dozen of the local postoffice force went post haste under counters in all directions. It was nothing but an electric light globe which exploded with a bang here, but the clerks suspected it was a bomb.

LITTLE TALKS ON TREES

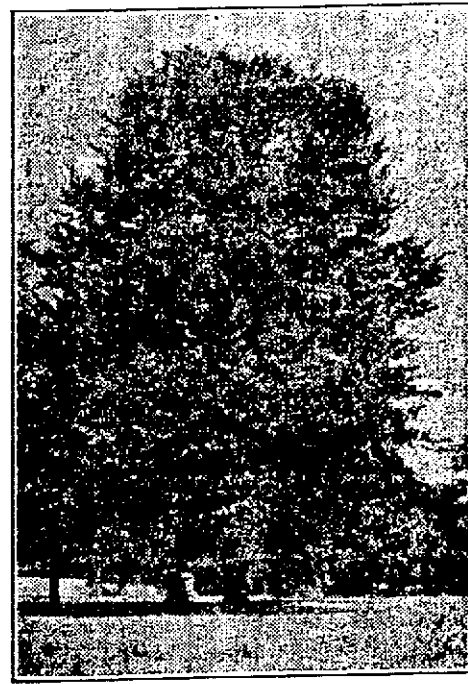

BASSWOOD, THE BEE TREE

THE Basswood or American Linden combines beauty and utility. Its luxuriant foliage, rapid growth and upright form make it attractive for street and lawn planting. It is easily transplanted and grows rapidly and vigorously because of a finely divided deep-growing root system. It grows best on fertile well-drained soils where it sometimes reaches a size of 80 to 120 feet in height and 3 or 4 feet in diameter. It grows satisfactorily almost anywhere except in extremely dry or very wet soils. The Lin, as this tree is often called, grows naturally in most of the Eastern United States.

It is late in leafing out and the young leaves are a delightful shade of emerald green. A peculiarity is that the large, heart-shaped leaf is lopsided, the two halves being noticeably unequal.

In June or early July when few other trees are in bloom, this tree is covered with dense clusters of small, creamy, delicately fragrant blossoms and is the Mecca of bees. Basswood honey has the whitest comb, and is the clearest and most finely flavored. Beekeepers frequently plant this tree. The fruits are woody balls about the size of peas, which the wind propels to a considerable distance from the parent tree. On account of the hard outside shell the seed may not germinate for two or three years after it is sown.

The wood is weak and is so soft and white that it is preferred above any other for carving and pyrography. Its only disadvantage as a street tree is its susceptibility to insect attack.

Sorority "Rushes" Fay Smith—"Fay" is a Boy

(By INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
Topeka, Kan., June 7.—To be rushed by a college fraternity is no new experience for boys in Kansas. But to be rushed by a sorority is an experience claimed only by one Kansan—and all on account of a girl's name. Fay Smith of Topeka, who attends Washburn college here, claims the doubtful honor.

Recently the girls of a sorority learned that Fay Smith had enrolled. Thinking "Fay" was a girl, a delegation from the sorority called at the house where their prospect lived. Upon Fay Smith presenting himself at the door in answer to their inquiry, the two girls fled in alarm.

Eight Million Loss to U. S. in Wine Revenues

(By INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)
San Francisco, June 7.—The United States government will lose $8,000,000 annually in revenue on wines in the First district of California, which comprises northern California and Nevada. These figures were obtained from the local bureau of internal revenue. The last collection of revenue on sweet wine for April amounted to $74,000 and has just been received. The tax on brandy used to fortify these wines amounted to $30,000, making a total of $104,000.

Now Receiving Shipments by Air

Society Brand Clothes

World's First Regular Aeroplane

Express Service is Established

Next Tuesday, this store will receive a shipment of Society Brand Clothes on a Curtiss Aeroplane from Chicago.

The establishment of this service marks an epoch. It signalizes the first regular employment of the aeroplane in commercial pursuits.

In adopting this 20th Century means of transportation, the makers of Society Brand Clothes were moved by the conviction that the commercial use of the aeroplane is not only feasible but practical for quick delivery.

Watch for the Checker-Board Plane

The aeroplane is a J-N 4-D2 model biplane. It is capable of a speed of 75 miles per hour. Ninety-five per cent of the American and Canadian military aviators were trained in one of these models. Its proven efficiency led to its selection for the Society Brand Service.

The plane will be distinguishable at a great height because of its checker-board wings. Military experiment proved that the checkerboard marking lent highest visibility.

Invitation to Citizens of Janesville and Vicinity

This store extends a most cordial invitation to all the citizens of Janesville and vicinity to visit the Fair Grounds in this city between the hours of 1 and 2:30 p. m. during which time the plane may be seen at rest. It will arrive here on schedule time at 1 p. m. and leave for Madison at 2:30 p. m.

The shipment of clothing which we will receive will be immediately placed on display in our men's windows.

BIG GAME OF SEASON HERE TOMORROW

JANES HOPE TO BREAK GIANTS' LONG WIN STRING

With a double-header billed, together with a weather forecast of fair and warmer, everything looks "rosy" for a big attendance at the fair grounds tomorrow afternoon, when the Lawrence Lunch Janes will battle the Giants, a traveling colored nine. The preliminary will be a contest between two youngsters' teams, the Junior All-stars of this city and the Edgerton Outlaws.

The first game is listed to start at 1 o'clock, while the Giants and Janes will break forth in delicious combat at 3 o'clock sharp. Crodan will be on the mound for the Janes, with the main battle on the receiving end. The battery for the negroes will be Elzie and Hilliard.

Elzie, Some Pitcher
The Giants are coming here after a week's tour in Illinois, where they have won all their games. Manager Smith told Manager Murphy yesterday. In the last game at Aurora, Elzie struck out 13 men. He is a tall, black boy with lots of smoke. He will have to use all he has tomorrow if the slugging Janes run true to advance dope.

Here are the batting orders of the two nines:
JANES:
Dopp, 2b; Kalkauske, cf; Pierce, ss; Kerkman, 1b; Vane, lf; Cavanaugh, 2b; Miller, rf; Crocko, c; Crocko, p.
GIANTS:
Clay, 1b; Hobson, rf; Peterson, cf; Claffie, 2b; Ingram, 1b; C. Conwell, ss; Edgerton, 3b; Hilliard, c; Elzie, p.

Beloit Man on Second
Cavanaugh, who will hold down the keystone bag tomorrow, is from Beloit. He has played here many times before. He is an old Central leaguer with baseball brains galore.
After a wide search for an ump, Manager Murphy has finally succeeded in securing an old semi-pro arbitrator from Peoria, Al Raulf, who has just come to Janesville to live. He has had several years' experience calling "em in Illinois and is said to be the kind of an ump who gives them all a square deal.

That is all local fans want. The deal the Janes were handed at Footsville was so raw that they have not recovered from it yet. Fans were just sore over decisions out there, Decoration day.
The game tomorrow will be one of the biggest of the season. It is up to those who want to see good baseball to turn out and boost. Murphy has a team that would do credit to any city and now that he has pulled it together and has it going strong he needs support.

The Giants will arrive here from Rockford on the 1 o'clock interurban Sunday.

EIGHT HORSES START IN LATONIA DERBY

Latonia, Ky., June 7.—Eight horses have been named to start in the thirty-seventh running of the Latonia Derby, worth close to $20,000 at the latonia track here today. With Sir Barton, winner of the Kentucky Derby not expected to start, the field embraces probably the best of the other three-year-olds of the east and west and an interesting contest is looked for.
The race is at a mile and a half as against a mile and a quarter for the Kentucky Derby. Eternal, the eastern crack from the stable of J. W. McClelland, which was beaten in the Kentucky Derby probably will rule favorite for the Latonia premier.
The probable starters, weights, owners and jockeys follow:
Horse, Vulcanite; weight, 115; owner, W. F. Polson; jockey, C. Howard.
Horse, Regal; weight, 117; owner, Gallipier Bros.; jockey, P. Murphy.
Horse, Be Frank; weight, 119; owner, C. M. Garrison; jockey, C. Kummer.
Horse, St. Bernard; weight, 119; owner, E. B. Egan; jockey, E. Egan.
Horse, Omond; weight, 122; owner, M. Quinn; jockey, H. Thurber.
Horse, Clermont; weight, 122; owner, G. J. Long; jockey, J. Groth.
Horse, Etern; weight, 122; owner, J. W. McClelland; jockey, A. Schuttlinger.
Horse, Pastouret; weight, 122; owner, F. D. Kellie; jockey, T. Murray.

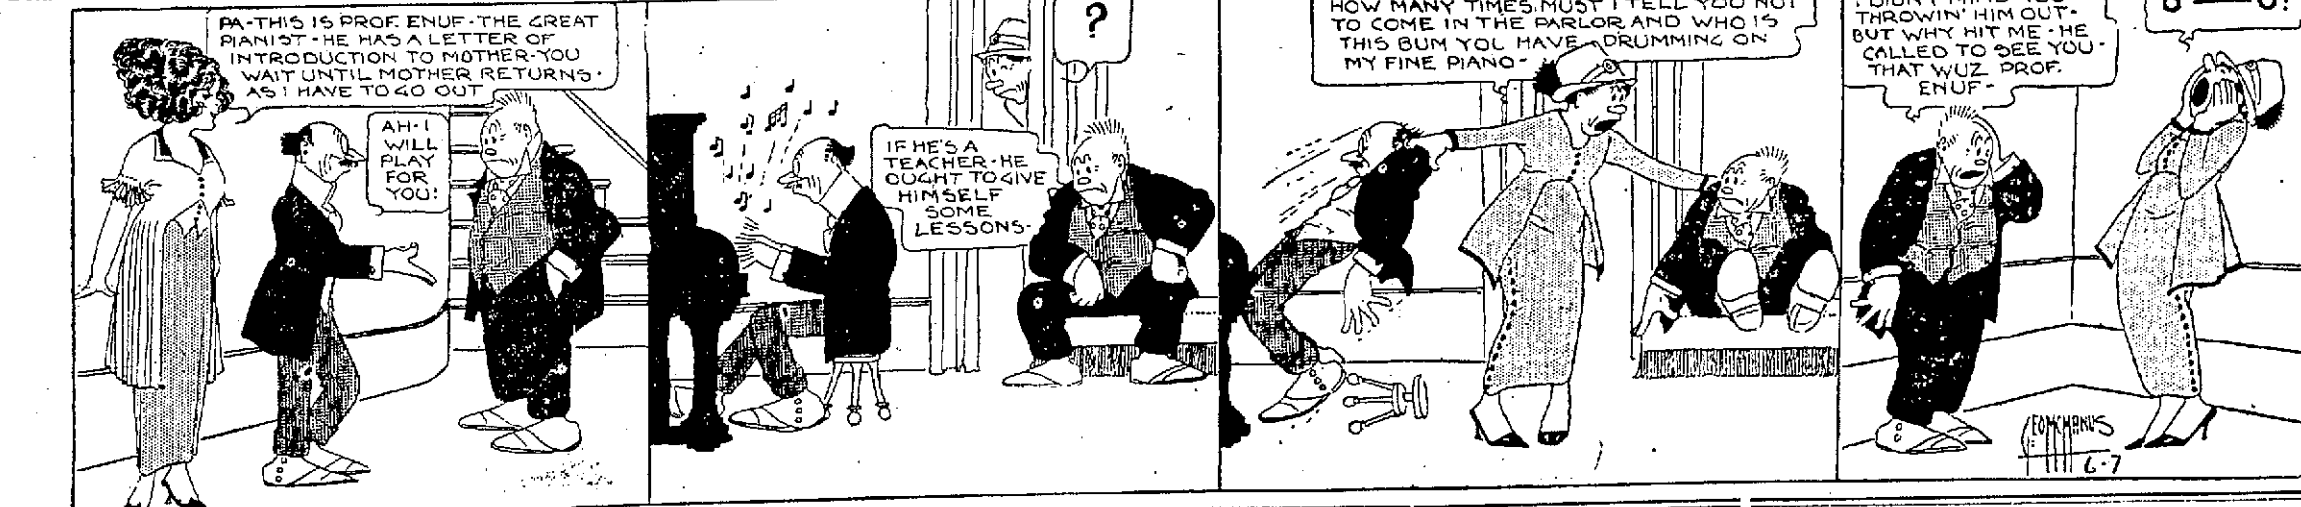

"RAILS" WILL MEET BELOIT CUBS SUNDAY

The C. M. & St. P. Athletic club nine better known as the "Rails" will travel to Beloit tomorrow afternoon to meet the Beloit Cubs at the Cubs grounds. All railroad men, who are not working are invited to make the trip.
With but one game lost the Rails are confident of winning tomorrow's game. So this season the Rails have lost to the Beloit Giants, but evened matters up by badly beating them last Sunday.
The Rails' new uniforms have arrived and will be used for the first time Sunday. The game will begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

War Fund Balance to Make Better Citizenship

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Cleveland, Ohio, June 7.—Cleveland's City War Board, a co-operative civic organization, which financed the city's share in the war contributions, has appropriated $15,000 of its unexpended balance to carry on citizenship work among the hundreds of foreigners who have taken out first citizenship papers here since the signing of the armistice.
"Our drive," said Chairman Moley, announcing the appropriation, "will be to turn out 10,000 real American citizens among the many foreigners who are eager to know this country and its institutions."

DEMPSEY RESUMES TRAINING FOR 10 DAYS

Toledo, O., June 7.—After four days of idleness, Jack Dempsey resumed training today for his championship contest with Jess Willard, July 4.
Dempsey will work for nine or ten days and then lay off again until about 10 days before the fight. His handlers have adopted this unique system of conditioning to prevent him from going stale. Manager Kearns announced that Billy Miske, the St. Paul light-heavy weight, and Jack Malone, a welterweight from St. Paul, would join the challenger's camp about June 20, and work with him in the remaining days of training.
Hard, fast work is what Willard needs if he is to get in prime condition, according to the views of boxing experts. The champion, they say, needs every day of the remaining four weeks to get into trim and will have to do some of the most strenuous work of his ring career if he is to train down to perfect condition.
Ray O. Archer, his business representative, is in the east in search of training talent. Not that Walter Martin, champion of the world, is present trainers are not all right. They are excellent conditioners, but experts say Willard needs more than two men and men of different types, either of these to get into condition.

Manitoba Farmers Reap Rich Winter Harvest in Setting Traps for Furs

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Winnipeg, Man., June 7.—Farmer trappers boosted the annual fur crop of Manitoba more than $1,500,000 during 1918, according to a report compiled by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. More than one-third of the total value was represented by muskrat pelts.
While many of the furs were obtained by professional trappers, a large proportion came from farmers who reap a rich winter harvest in addition to their regular harvest of crops, livestock and dairy products.
Instead of remaining idle during most of the winter months, which is the lot of many farmers in the temperate zone, these farmers long ago learned that they can substantially increase their yearly incomes by setting traps during the winter. The muskrat, fox, lynx, ermine and marten. Partially closed season on beaver gave that animal second place on the list with a value of $221,000.
The fur producing animals in the list are, in order, beaver, mink, fisher, skunk, marten, muskrat, wolf, bear, fox, lynx, ermine and marten. Partially closed season on beaver gave that animal second place on the list with a value of $221,000.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, June 7.—Bolshevism has shown its ugly head here, according to the girls of the Cedar College, a co-educational school. The "Reds" in placards denounce in strong terms the old custom of the escort paying the whole bill. "Let the girls pay half of the bill," they say.

BABE RUTH ISN'T HITTING 1918 GAIT

Babe Ruth, slugging southpaw pitcher who proclaimed the demon hitter of baseball last year, apparently is off his stride so far this season. Although Babe started the campaign with some lusty wallops his average to date is below .200.

STARS WILL BATTLE BELOIT COLORED NINE HERE SUNDAY

With every man in perfect trim the All-Stars will take on the Beloit Colored Giants at Bailey's diamond at 2:45 tomorrow afternoon in the deciding contest of a three-game series. The Stars were today confident of victory, although they realize it will be a tough game.
The Giants' line-up cannot be announced as Manager Willis Scott is waiting to hear from a Prepost batter and some Rockford outfielders. Whether Hager or Bick will pitch for the Stars has not been decided. Wall and Crowley are ready to work behind the rubber.
McGinley hitting like Babe Ruth and Graesslin and Fullman going good with the stick. The Stars look like winners. Babcock, Graff and Zahn will hold down the acres.
Manager Bick is communicating with Albany for a game here July 4. A number of teams are asking for that date. Next Sunday the Stars will play the revised Beloit High School Informals at Hancock field.

CHILD LABOR LAWS IN STATE ACCEPTABLE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, June 7.—The state of Wisconsin has been officially designated as one of the states in which child labor permits issued by state authorities will be accepted as complying in every respect with the provisions of the new federal child labor law.
The federal child labor law provides for a 10 per cent tax upon net profits upon all corporations, partnerships and individuals who employ children below 14 years of age in any mill, cannery, workshop, factory, or manufacturing establishment, or below 16 years of age in any mine. The same tax is imposed if children between the ages of 14 and 16 years are employed in excess of eight hours per day, or at night work, or for more than six days in any week.
During the past year 180 cases involving accidents to children employed in violation of the child labor law were reported to the Industrial Commission. In all of these cases the employers violating the law have been required to pay treble compensation to the injured members.

Tries to Mail Letter at Fire Alarm Box

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Indianapolis, Ind., June 7.—A negro woman attempted to mail a letter here recently, her act costing the city nearly $150 and a lot of fuss and their morning nap. It was like this: A fire alarm came in and all the downtown apparatus responded. There was no fire. Assistant Chief Egan found an aged negro woman standing by the box.
"No, sir, dere ain't no fire. Ah just mailed a letter, that's all," she told the chief. The chief then explained to her that the fire alarm box was not the place to mail letters.

COBB STILL LEADING AMERICAN LEAGUE; CRAVATH IN NATIONAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, June 7.—Cravath of Philadelphia, although making only ten hits in his last nine games, continued to lead the batters of the National league, on the basis of figures released today, which include games of last Wednesday. He is hitting .450.
Burns, New York, has climbed up and tied with Olson of Brooklyn for 45 times. Larry Doyle, New York, has taken first honor in total bases from his teammate, Young Doyle, who has 67 to his credit. Williams, Philadelphia, has taken Cravath's place in the home-run department, and is tied with Kauff, New York, for the lead. Each has made five circuit drives. Three Brooklynites, Myers, Magee and Kuncelchy, are tied in sacrifice hits with 11 apiece. Bigbee, Pittsburgh, has leaped into the lead for base stealing with 12 thiefs.

Leading batters: Cravath, Philadelphia, .450; Wingo, Cincinnati, .373; Young, New York, .349; Meusel, Philadelphia, .338; Roush, Cincinnati, .332; McCarthy, New York, .333; Kilguff, Chicago, .333; Doyle, New York, .328; Williams, Philadelphia, .325; Rariden, Cincinnati, .324.

Ty Cobb, the Detroit slugger, not only retained his lead at the head of American league batters, but also passed Jackson, Chicago, in total bases. The Georgian is hitting .369 and has 68 bases.
Weaver, Chicago, continued to be the best run getter, but has only one more than Sisler, St. Louis, who has 26. Cobb has 25. Roth, Philadelphia, leads in home runs with 4. He made three homers in the past week. Viti, Boston, bunted himself into tie with Chapman, Cleveland, for sacrifice honors. Each has 14. Eddie Collins, Chicago, continued to show the way to the base stealers with 13.

Leading batters: Cobb, Detroit, .369; Johnston, Cleveland, .354; Bodie, New York, .352; Veach, Detroit, .352; Weaver, Chicago, .346; Gedeon, St. Louis, .345; Rice, Washington, .344; Schanz, Boston, .344; Sisler, St. Louis, .339; Scott, Boston, .327.

SPORT SNAP-SHOTS

BY JACK KEENE.

The selection of Norman Ross, Lady Lang, George Cunha, John Hinckles, Siegel, V. Johnson, Sydney Biddle, Greff Allen, C. Montgomery and H. S. Biersach as representatives of the American army in the inter-allied games, in Joinville-le-Pont, near Paris, June 22 to July 6, is gratifying from every point of view, says an eastern sports expert. It would be difficult to find a better service a stronger combination, unless navy men were included, and the chosen stars may be counted upon to figure prominently in every event on the program.

Norman Ross, formerly of San Francisco, now attached to the Illinois A. C. of Chicago, stands out as one of the greatest of all around swimmers yet developed. Free style swimmer of championship caliber and deemed virtually invincible at all distances from the furlong to the mile, he won the national 150 yard stroke title in close to record time last year. He has also displayed exceptionally good performances at the breast stroke.

World's standards fall to his lot almost every time he competes at the middle distances, where he seems able to improve at will on his own best previous feats. In 1918 he proved the leading performer of the year, although he took part in only a few meets. Since his recent discharge from the aviation corps he has swept everything before him, capturing championships and shattering records in the pool. He has lowered his own mark for 300 yards in a pool. A few days ago he lowered the record for 100 yards in a pool. He has won the all-around title of the New England A. A. U. last summer and scored some brilliant victories in collegiate swimming during the recent season.

Charles Montgomery of the Pittsburgh A. A. is the 500 yard champion of the Allegheny Mountain section and a good strong string man, though hardly of national standard. Greff Allen of the New York A. C. is one of the leading local sprinters. H. S. Biersach of the University of Wisconsin specializes in the breast stroke and will be the reliance man for races at this style of swimming.

IRISH ATROCITIES REPORTED TO WILSON

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Friday, June 6.—Within the last few months 10 citizens have been killed in Ireland by soldiers or constables under circumstances found by coroners' juries to have been shot. It also is alleged that punitive measures of the Irish societies in the United States. The report was sent to President Wilson along with the demand that the peace conference investigate the Irish question.
Charges are made that hundreds of men and women were put in prison without any specific accusations being made against them. The document says that at least five men died as a result of atrocities in prisons. It also is alleged that punitive measures of the prison authorities included drenching with water bringing pneumonia, solitary confinement and withholding of rations. It is stated further that the heads of hundreds of families were sent to jail or deported, leaving dependent women and children without means of support, and to become objects of charity.

Recover from Shooting.
Antigo, June 7.—Improvement was reported in the condition of Frank Parsons and his housekeeper, Mrs. Nan Lillie, alleged to have been shot last Saturday by John Mainville. Hope is entertained that both victims may recover, up to Friday no charge has been preferred against Mainville.

FARM HOMES ARE MADE FREE FROM HEALTH DESTROYERS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE).
Madison, June 7.—The fact that rural inhabitants are as susceptible to infectious diseases as city people, is one of the reasons why the health conditions brought into prominence by the war. The draft examinations of ten million men revealed 38 percent of men unfit for military service, and that a large majority of these rejects were from the country districts.

In Wisconsin, organized health aims include a campaign of education to interest rural communities in:

Cleaner milk supplies.
Proper sewage disposal and water supplies, free from pollution.

Modern conveniences for the farm home and farm buildings, to save time and labor in doing farm work.

Health supervision of children and their homes, life through the county nurse and other agencies.

More recreation for the family.
Each of these movements has the physical benefit of rural dwellers being aided by the state board of health and its field agents.

At the same time, the health of the farm home is being improved by the installation of private sewage disposal and water supply plants. Reports show that thousands of farm homes in this state are being equipped with these essentials at no considerable expense.

Other home conveniences are being installed as fast as rural dwellers become educated to their unrivaled advantages for comfort and saving of labor.

The county nurse is rapidly establishing a sanitary and health condition in rural districts, where already established, by awakening residents to physical defects and errors in home conditions contributing to ill health. Further impetus will be given by the proposed nurse law.

LAWYERS OF TWO STATES PLAN MEETING

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS).
Milwaukee, June 7.—The Wisconsin State Bar association and the Minnesota State Bar association planned to hold a joint meeting at La Crosse July 1-3, according to announcements made by George E. Morton, secretary of the Wisconsin body.

The program calls for both separate and joint meetings of the two associations with an address by William Howard Taft, featuring the public meetings at Normal school auditorium on the second day of the convention.

Both associations will be welcomed by W. S. Burroughs, La Crosse, president of the La Crosse Bar association, to be followed by the annual address by Chief Justice John E. Winslow of the Wisconsin supreme court, president of the Wisconsin Bar association.

Claire B. Bird, Wausau, and Pierce Butler, St. Paul, will deliver addresses at a joint meeting July 2. The closing day of the joint gathering will be featured by addresses by Dr. William J. Mayo, Rochester, Minn.; Walter C. Owen, Madison, associate justices of the supreme court.

The annual banquet of both associations will bring the meetings to a close. L. L. Brown, president of the Minnesota Bar association, will be master of ceremonies, and William H. Page of the University of Wisconsin Law school, and Ambrose Tighe of the St. Paul Bar will deliver addresses.

Soldier Told He Can Loaf All He Pleases

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS).
Oklahoma City, June 7.—L. C. Alken, a discharged soldier, can loaf on Oklahoma streets all he wants to. This is the order of the police court here. Alken was arrested by a policeman for loafing. The officer told the court he had seen Alken on the street for more than half an hour. The ex-soldier testified that he had just returned from France, and had brought Grant Landon of the county council defense to back up his statements.

He told the police Alken had not missed a day's work in six years except while with the army.

U. S. THIRD ARMY OPPOSES NEW MOVE

Coblentz, Thursday, June 5.—The Rhenish republic movement has made no headway in the American area of occupation, according to third army headquarters. The American authorities are continuing to maintain an attitude of opposition to political moves of any kind. The British officers in their area are said to have taken a similar stand.

French officers in Coblentz have stated that the idea of launching a republic at this time originated in Mayence and Wiesbaden and that the French regarded the movement with favor. It has developed that May 21, a French colonel visited Coblentz and at 2 o'clock in the morning called American staff officers on the telephone asking for an immediate appointment with Lieutenant General Jaggett, the third army commander. The French colonel said it was most important that he interview General Jaggett and that General Mangin, the French commander, desired through the colonel to request American cooperation. The French officer said that 50 or 60 German delegates were ready to come to Coblentz and hold a meeting, provided the Americans granted a permit, and that it was planned to declare a republic May 24.

The American authorities took the stand that the movement was a purely political one and that to permit any such meeting would be exceeding the authority of the army command. June 1, the report was sent out from Mayence that the republic had been declared at Wiesbaden with Dr. Dorn as its head.

Nurse is Awarded D. S. C.; Sticks to Post

Washington, June 7.—One woman was included in the list of citations made public by the war department today as the basis for awards of the distinguished service cross. Miss Jane Jeffrey, an English woman, serving as an American Red Cross nurse, was cited for extraordinary bravery in action. While on duty in a hospital she was wounded by an exploding aerial bomb but refused to leave her post, though suffering great pain; her devotion to the task of helping others was inspiring to her associates.

BLAINE GIVES OPINION ON LIQUOR LICENSE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE).
Madison, June 7.—A state liquor license in Wisconsin will be of little value to its holder after June 30, 1919, unless congress repeals the so-called "war prohibition acts." This is indicated in an opinion by Attorney General John Blaine to District Attorney George W. Lippert, Wausau. A copy of the opinion will be sent to every district attorney in the state. The opinion quotes in detail the federal prohibition amendment, the war prohibition acts and the section of the food conservation act relating to the manufacturing of distilled spirits. "I cannot anticipate what may be done either by the Wisconsin legislature or by congress and therefore those who apply for and receive licenses to sell intoxicating liquors receive such licenses under the terms, conditions and regulations of the existing excise laws of this state and subject to the Federal laws and regulations now existing or which may hereafter be enacted, either by congress or by the legislature," says Attorney General Blaine.

VOLTAGE OF FORD MAGNETO

W. A. B. asks: How many volts does a Ford magneto develop and is an alternating current voltmeter the instrument to measure it with?

Answer: The voltage generated increases with the engine speed and, according to a recently published paper by R. H. Smith, Electrical Engineering, 50, 1, p. 24 at 1000 r. p. m., and 150 at 1500 r. p. m. These figures probably refer to the voltage when the magneto is furnishing its full output. The voltage does not heavily loaded, as with the headlights. The headlights are fitted with 8-9 volt bulbs and are wired in series, so it is evidently expected that the voltage of the magneto will be 16-18 at the ordinary engine speed. With increasing loads the effective voltage is considerably less than the total voltage generated. The voltage drop is due to the voltage drop caused by the increased frequency of alternation, as speed increases. An alternating current voltmeter consisting of a coil of wire and a permanent magnet is used as a measuring instrument. Many commercial voltmeters contain iron and are fitted for giving accurate results only when used within a narrower range of voltage than that at which the magneto operates.

Paralyzed by Lightning.
Marineville, June 7.—Lightning Tuesday night struck the home of Albert Dickie, farmer in the town of Porterfield, killing his dog and severely injuring his man. He was able to crawl out of the house, which was aflame and shout for help. His home was destroyed, and he is now in a hospital here, says that just before the bolt struck, the dog had started whining, for the open door, but when the lightning struck he failed to follow it, the dog came back. Later, he claims, he heard a peculiar knock on the window. Both incidents, he believes, were premonitions of what followed.

THE orchestral section of the Cheney is one of the important and exclusive features which have given this instrument acknowledged supremacy in sweetness and purity of tone.

Note that it is made from seasoned wood, which adds a mellow quality to the tones as they pass through.

Yet more important, note that the old megaphone principle has been discarded for a more scientific method of tone amplification through a series of chambers, graduated in size. These chambers will preserve a perfect balance in reproducing band, orchestra or other ensemble selections. Each voice or instrument is readily recognized—promptly identified.

This is only one of many improvements that have placed the Cheney in a class apart. Call at our store and let us show you the tone arm, the acoustical throat, the reproducer, the resonator. Best of all, let us show you the artistic Cheney cabinets in period design. They fittingly enshrine the superior Cheney tonal system.

WHITEWATER NORMAL HONORS GOLD STAR MEN

Whitewater, June 7.—Memorial exercises for the normal boys who served in the war and made the supreme sacrifice, were held in the normal assembly, Thursday morning. The boys were the following: Byron Buckley, William Graham, Oscar Hamilton, Harold Hawes and Ernest Macon. The memorial address was given by Chaplain Sterns, Milwaukee, of the 127th. A member of the faculty spoke for each of the boys, giving a brief sketch of their lives and telling something of the service given. The exercises closed Wednesday, June 6, 1919, came out Wednesday. It contains many features and is dedicated to the seven boys who gave their lives to their country. Miss John Bonnett, Milwaukee, has been visiting Whitewater Normal. The high school baseball team played a team made up of Whitewater business men Friday afternoon, and was beaten 7 to 16.

Miss Coral Kendall is spending the week-end with Miss Aurel Baker, Eagle. The railroad bridge has been a very popular place for the kids to fish from of late. Yesterday one little fellow was so intent on trying to see the fish that he went head-first into the water some 12 feet below. He was unable to swim and had gone down twice before help arrived.

Personal.

Kenneth Savoy and Leo Austin are on one of their vacations from Fort Sheridan.

Dr. P. E. West arrived home Thursday from Camp Grant. Sgt. John Dorr, Arcadia, Fla., is one of the home arrivals this week.

The J. P. Lodge held initiation here last evening at Woodman hall, when some 30 men became members. A banquet at the Hotel Walworth was given, where 90 were present.

Lincoln Hawes was arrested last Sunday on a charge of reckless driving when taking the ball team to the park. He pled not guilty and yesterday won his case in the local court.

Miss Wilhelmina Krahn and Fred Neidlein were married Wednesday at the German Lutheran church by Rev. Leeper.

C. Schimmes and Harvey Marr are at Waukesha taking the mud baths.

The Woodman memorial exercises will be held at the Congregational church Sunday evening. John Lutz, former M. E. pastor here, but now of Monmouth, Ill., will give the address.

PROHIBITION FIGHT IN SENATE NEXT WEEK

(By FRED L. HOLMES.) Madison, June 7.—The big fight of the session on the prohibition enforcement measure, presented in the form of a substitute by Senator Mulberger, Waterbury, which would permit the sale of beer and other beverages containing more than 2% percent of alcohol in the state.

The question whether the provisions of the measure shall continue to be of force and effect from and after Jan. 21, 1921, shall be submitted to a vote of the people at the November election in 1920.

The vote of the committee was 4 to 3 for the Mulberger amendment, as follows:

For the Mulberger amendment: Senators Stevens, Arnold, Mulberger and Bilgic.—4.

Against the Mulberger amendment: Senators Olson and Denward.—2.

There were several substitutes pending before the state affairs committee when it took action.

The Burke substitute providing for 2% percent beer was unanimously recommended for indefinite postponement.

The Olson substitute, which has the backing of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league and which provides for the enforcement of the dry laws through the attorney general's office, was recommended for indefinite postponement by a vote of 4 to 2.

The Mulberger substitute was then adopted in place of the original Denward measure which was introduced early in the session.

The following dispatch from Topeka, appears in the Kansas City "Star."

"We wonder what the auditor would have thought if the gentlemen in question had tried to do some real eating in this village. When he wants figures he don't lie, we will tell him, that there have been occasions when $11.15 has failed to get us, as far as the entrees:

The Kansas state auditor is not prepared to say what an ordinary meal in New York ought to cost, but he has an idea that $11.15 is too much for any one man to spend on four meals in one day in New York city or any other city or town. Also $3.50 is too much for three meals for any ordinary Kansan in New York. The auditor has just begun to receive the bills of the state officials who went to New York on special duties connected with the return of the Thirty-fifth division, and the men who made the trip are going to find large holes cut into the Expense checks when they are received. The auditor announced today that he was not going to allow any such item as $11.15 for four meals in one day for any Kansan anywhere, and that he was going to cut down all the big "feed" bills of the officials."

And I was downright sorry; it really was a shame.

That I should have to go out and teach the world its game, For I was tender-hearted and could not bear to see The looks of jealous anger when people heard of me. The teacher, to assure me, was kind enough to say The other folks would manage to get along some way. I couldn't quite believe him. You see that was before I'd taken my first toddle outside the college door. Then I set forth to conquer the poor old easy world. With wind and weather charming and every sail unfurled. 'Twas several long years ago, how many, I forgot. But still I don't mind owning the world ain't conquered yet. I remember, I remember, the day that I quit school. Since then I have been learning how not to be a fool.

Death Spares Court From Trying Friend

(By INTERNATIONAL NEWS.) Cleveland, Ohio, June 7.—"Abated by death."

The writing of these words while tears coursed from his eyes spared Judge Virgil J. Terrell the ordeal of sitting in judgment on his boyhood chum, Morris Darling, who "went wiping."

Darling, who had a long criminal record, finally was picked up in Cleveland as a pickpocket. He hanged himself the day before he was to have been arraigned before his friend of boyhood days.

Harness Makers to Meet.

Milwaukee, June 7.—The Retail Harness Makers of Wisconsin will hold their annual convention of the Republican house June 18 and 19. Henry Groth, Milwaukee, is president. Among the speakers will be Mayor Houn and P. W. Luening, assistant secretary of the Association of Commerce.

Buffalo Labor Parades Against Prohibits Tonight

Buffalo, N. Y., June 7.—Proposed by the Central Labor council, but not confined to the membership of that body alone, a parade and mass meeting known as "Labor's Anti-Prohibition Demonstration," will be held here tonight.

The parade will start from McKinley square, and after covering a route to be fixed later, will terminate at the Broadway auditorium where the mass meeting will be held.

James P. Holland, president of the State Federation of Labor, and Congressman James Mead will be the principal speakers.

Dorten Says Rhine Will Not Evade Debt

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS.) Cologne, Friday, June 6.—Dr. Dorten, president of the new Rhinish republic, has telegraphed Sir William Robertson, commander of the British forces of occupation, here, announcing the formation of the republic and repudiating any desire to evade a "just share in the reparation of war damages."

He appeals to the entente powers to protect the new state against "inevitable revenge from Prussian militarism."

Cow Sells for $26,000.

Philadelphia.—The champion Holstein cow, Rolio Mercena De Kol, was sold for $26,000.

The Price Has Dropped

Owing to the fact that the wholesale price is down I can now come back to pre-war prices on practically all optical work.

CRUELY printed in pencil on a piece of dirty brown paper, and stuck there with a sailor's rusty knife, was this message. And well they knew what it meant. The girl they had sought for days and believed to be lost—now they knew her to be worse than lost.

Calypso, with her pure, olive skin and black, silken hair—Calypso, the beautiful Spanish girl who had masked as a boy and begged to be allowed to go with the rest on their perilous journey—

Should he give up the treasure that he and his party—some of whom had paid the supreme price—had fought and repeatedly risked their lives for; should he give up this wealth of gold and jewels for the girl he adored, or trust to mercy of his enemies for her safety?

This is the situation created by Richard Le Gallienne—in his inimitable way of writing—in

For the middle-aged or elderly person who requires one pair of glasses for reading and another pair for out-of-door use, we recommend our Invisible Bifocal or double vision glasses. They are really two pairs of glasses in one—two lenses fused together without any visible joining. There is no prominent seam or joint to tell the public that the wearer is "getting along in years." Call and see them.

Plummed Market
Duluth, Minn., June 7.—Plummed prices broke in the market this early trading in this morning's market on the execution of a volume of country selling. October suffered the most, but fresh support appeared on the low spots and the market rallied during the later operations. Spots closed 1 cent off; September 2 cents off and October 4 cents off.

Wall Street Gossip
New York, June 7.—The stock market gave another good demonstration of rising strength today. Evening up of short contracts over the week and the fact that the market was unusually responsive also to the favorable summary of business conditions reported by the mercantile agencies. In addition, the fact that the market would soon be out of the way, and a current large expansion in gross earnings of ing was strong. The closing of recent favorites was resumed in the stock market today, the demand being notably for General Motors and the shipping, oil and steel stocks. The price of gold fell from one to two points, with United States Fruit making an exceptional rise of 10 points. The main trend was upward under continuation of yesterday's realizing movement. American Woolen receding five points, but the main trend was firmly upward. The copper and tin were quiet, and the coppers and United States steel moved quite narrowly.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week shows that they held $1,370,000,000 in excess of their requirements. This is an increase of $14,730,000 from last week.
